Bauhaus Women: A Global Perspective - The Untold Stories of Creativity and Design

The Bauhaus movement was one of the most influential movements in modern art and design. Founded in Weimar, Germany in 1919, the Bauhaus aimed to create a new type of art and design that was both functional and beautiful. The Bauhaus was a melting pot of ideas, and it attracted artists and designers from all over the world. However, the Bauhaus was also a male-dominated institution. Women were often relegated to the sidelines, and their contributions to the Bauhaus were often overlooked.
