A Haven for Nature Lovers

At the heart of Wave Hill lies a tapestry of vibrant gardens. From the formal English Rose Garden, resplendent with fragrant blooms, to the sprawling Herb Garden, brimming with aromatic plants, nature's beauty unfolds in an array of colors and textures.

The Woodland Walk invites you to immerse yourself in a verdant sanctuary, where towering trees create a canopy overhead, guiding you through a verdant labyrinth of ferns, wildflowers, and babbling brooks.

Artful Expressions in Nature

Wave Hill's gardens are not merely horticultural marvels; they are also inspiring canvases for contemporary and historical art exhibitions. The Esther Stuttman Fine Arts Center showcases a rotating array of sculptures, installations, and paintings that dialogue with the surrounding landscape.

Artists have been drawn to Wave Hill's unique atmosphere for decades, finding inspiration in the garden's natural beauty and architectural structures. Their works, from ethereal sculptures that hover over the Sunken Garden to abstract paintings that reflect the changing seasons, create a harmonious blend of nature and art.

History and Heritage

The history of Wave Hill is as rich as the gardens themselves. In the 19th century, it was the summer residence of the eminent naturalist and physician, Dr. George Perkins. His passion for horticulture transformed the grounds into an experimental garden, where he introduced exotic plants and fostered horticultural innovation.

The legacy of Dr. Perkins and subsequent owners has been carefully preserved. The historic greenhouses, designed in the Victorian style, still shelter a collection of rare and endangered plants. The elegant mansion, now a museum, offers a glimpse into the lives of those who have shaped Wave Hill's history.

A Place of Inspiration and Renewal

Beyond its horticultural and artistic treasures, Wave Hill serves as a sanctuary for the senses and a source of inspiration for visitors of all ages. The serene landscapes provide a respite from the hustle and bustle of city life, inviting you to unwind, reflect, and reconnect with nature.

The Betty and Wilbur Davis Education Center offers a wide range of programs, workshops, and classes that encourage exploration, learning, and creativity. From nature walks to gardening demonstrations, there is something for everyone to discover at Wave Hill.

A Must-See for Art and Nature Enthusiasts

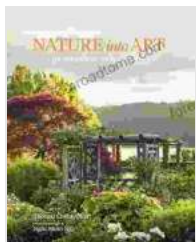

Whether you are a seasoned art connoisseur or an avid gardener, Wave Hill offers an unforgettable experience that combines the beauty of nature with the transformative power of art. Immerse yourself in the lush gardens, marvel at thought-provoking exhibitions, and find inspiration in the harmonious interplay of nature and creativity.
